MISERABLE FOR TWO YEARS

"Fruit-a-tives" Restored Her Strength and Vitality
MORTONVILLE, CARROLL CO., N. H.
"I was all run down and work was burdensome owing to indigestion, and gas on my stomach which caused me to belch a good deal. My heart seemed to be affected.
It was two years ago that I was in this condition and began the use of "Fruit-a-tives," which proved the very remedy I required. I was freed of the indigestion, which I attributed to my heart; and I can conscientiously recommend "Fruit-a-tives" the great Fruit Medicine."

LEG BROKEN WHEN AUTO GOES INTO DITCH AT TOP OF FRANKLIN HILL

Nelson D. Therox of 74 Bowell avenue, an automobile demonstrator and salesman, had a leg broken, and Joseph Richard of Taftville suffered severe cuts and bruises in an accident at the top of Franklin hill early Wednesday night when the automobile in which they were riding went through a fence and into a ditch.

Both were brought to the Backus hospital at 3:30, where Therox remains a patient, but Richard was able to go to his home after Dr. E. J. Brophy had treated his injuries. The doctor also attended Therox.

The facts that are being brought to light are in direct contradiction of a telegram received by the Providence Journal from E. J. Chamberlain, of the Grand Trunk, on Nov. 19, 1931, in which he stated that the Grand Trunk was not to be involved in the matter.

A traffic agreement between the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad and Central Vermont on the other side, by which the first railroad retained a monopoly of traffic in central and southern Vermont, was admitted as evidence for the plaintiff Tuesday after strong opposition by the defense. Its admission is regarded as a strong point in Fitzhugh's case, it is being for $200,000 damages for the damage done to his railroad car by the treatment he charges he received from the defendant roads.

The Journal's telegram of inquiry at the time followed: "Order for stoppage of work on Southern New England issued today creating greatest consternation among entire community. Can you wire us for publication message?"

John E. Fitzhugh, president of the Grand Trunk, is in line with the general letting up of construction on all parts of the Grand Trunk system and that there is no intention whatever to abandon the road.

Mr. Chamberlain wired in reply: "Temporary stoppage of work on Southern New England is precautionary measure brought about by the unsettled money market which is produced by the strained conditions in Europe at the present time."

A special committee of the Rhode Island legislature was later appointed to investigate the cause for the Grand Trunk's failure to complete its plans here and today Judge Sawyer dismissed the jury for an hour and a quarter while counsel for both sides wrangled over the admission into the records of the case the stenographic report of the hearing.

At the hearing Grand Trunk officials appeared and testified that President Fitzhugh had ordered the engineers to scale down the estimates of construction of the Providence and Pawtucket road, which was to be made as to make the project an impossibility.

The admission of the records was taken under advisement by Judge Sawyer.

John E. Fitzhugh, president of both roads, testified regarding the agreement in addition to which a letter from Edson J. Chamberlain, then president of the Grand Trunk, was read into the record.

Major Robert C. Murchie offered as an exhibit a copy of the correspondence between him and all defendants, a copy of the indictments found against Charles S. Melien, Elmer J. Chamberlain and Alfred W. Smithers by the federal grand jury of New York for violations of the Sherman anti-trust act.

Various other documents furnished the court at the request of the plaintiff by the defendants were marked as plaintiffs' exhibits in the case at the request of Mr. Murchie for the plaintiff, there to be referred to later in the trial.

FINDS CLAIMANT IS NOT ENTITLED TO COMPENSATION

In the finding filed Wednesday, Commissioner J. J. Donohue has dismissed the workmen's compensation claim of Daniel A. Dean of the Corning road against the United States Fish and Game Commission. The claimant, who did not arise out of and in the course of his employment.

On or about July 5, 1931, Dean was taken with a pain in the back while at work. He continued at work then but quit work July 25 and has been paid two weeks' compensation by the company under the belief that he was suffering from disability incurred through his occupation.

In his finding the Compensation Commissioner says in part:

From the medical evidence introduced at the hearing, it is found that this claimant suffered from a complaint which was a form of muscular rheumatism which came on while he was working, and while it occurred in the course of his employment it was not caused by an injury or disease arising out of the employment. The fact that the claimant suffered this pain in his back on July 5, 1931, while at work for the respondent employer is simply a coincidence and cannot in any way be considered an injury traceable to his employment. Such conditions frequently occur while a person is sitting down or sleeping, or it might occur while a person is engaged in a great variety of ways, but if it happened to occur while a person was engaged in his regular employment, this would not necessarily mean that the disability resulting from such a condition was due to any employment in which he might be actually engaged at the time of its occurrence.

The opinion of the attending physician was to the effect that the claimant's condition was not a result of his employment. The claim for compensation is therefore dismissed.

Recruiting For Post Wright.

Ruddy Cheeks—Sparkling Eyes—Most Women Can Have

Says Dr. Edwards, a Well-Known Ohio Physician

Dr. F. M. Edwards of 17 years treated scores of women for liver and bowel ailments. During these years he gave to his patients a prescription made of a few well-known vegetable ingredients mixed with olive oil, naming them Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. You will know them by their olive color.

These tablets are wonder-workers on the liver and bowels, which cause a normal action, carrying off the waste and poisonous matter in one's system.

If you have a pale face, yellow look, dull eyes, pimples, coated tongue, headache, a listless, no-good feeling, all out of sorts, inactive bowels, you take one of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets nightly for a time and note the pleasing results.

Thousands of women and men take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the successful substitute for calomel—now and then just to keep them fit. 35c and 50c.

BARBER, "BLANK" BRAMAN AND JOSEPHINE

Barber, "Blank" Braman and Josephine Singer in the case of the late George P. Babcock dying without issue. Mattie P. Babcock, who lives in Dobb's Ferry, N. Y., is a maiden lady and is the executrix of the Babcock estate.

The Stoughton probate court found that the "Blank" Braman is a daughter of the deceased. The court found that the name in the will was not the name of the deceased.

The plaintiff affirms that the "Blank" Braman in the will was intended by Mr. Barber. As he was, and is the plaintiff, Albert R. Braman, a nephew of the deceased.

Barber mentioned in the will died before Pelag Barber and Charles Braman, who died at Stoughton, Mass., left his interest in the Pelag Barber estate to his niece, Marion Allen of Norwich, Mass. The plaintiff claims that at the date of the execution of the Barber will, Albert R. Braman was the only living relative of Pelag Barber by the name of Braman who was not mentioned in the section of the will.

These named defendants in the case are Mattie P. Babcock of Dobb's Ferry, N. Y., Eliza Merrill of Westbury, Phoebe Barber Irwin of East Providence, Marion A. Allen of Norwich, Mass., M. Barber Latimer of Wakefield, Mass., and Josephine Minzey of Stoughton, Mass.

THE PASNIK COMPANY GIVES THANKS.

BECAUSE we live in the richest, most productive, most beautiful and self-supporting country on earth.

BECAUSE our Constitution embodies the finest quality of liberty and governmental idealism known to man.

BECAUSE in world disaster we are the first to pour forth our riches and our service.

BECAUSE the great common sense of our people stands as a bulwark of security against the storm of unreason sweeping the world.

BECAUSE our crusade army made its valiant thrust at autocracy.

BECAUSE of our glorious oceans and seas; our great cities and thriving towns; our industry, energy and strength; our beautiful lakes and rivers; our majestic forests and mountains; our vast prairies; our fertile soils; our mineral wealth—all reflections of His bounty.

But most of all we can give thanks because we are Americans.

HAMBURG SCHOOL MEETING
DISCUSSED HEALTH WORK
Supervisor Frank L. Wilson assisted by the teacher of the public schools in Hamburg under state supervision arranged an attractive health program which was presented in Orange hall there Tuesday evening. The idea was to let the public know just what is being done in the schools in the way of promoting good health and to show the help given by a nurse in a community.

There was an interested active audience who desire to keep their town in Class A could be easily seen by the cooperation given those interested in the health work of the community. The program closed with the singing of the Star Spangled Banner by the assembled class.

The appropriate costumes worn by the children and their very fine acting showed careful work and efficient training.
